VOLUME 4 NUMBER 6

Speeding 18-year-old Man from Romulus Charged with Negligent Homicide in Accident

Pictured is the car that the 18-year-old Romulus speedster was driving. He survived; the Dearborn man died.

The driver of this car, an unsuspecting 37-year-old Dearborn man, was fatally injured on his way home from work.

by Dave Atkins

On August 7, at about 3:40 p.m., a young man's life was snuffed out because of someone who was driving too fast. The victim was Nicholas Stenasa, a 37-year-old Dearborn man.

Stenasa, who was single and living with his mother, worked at Hertz Rent A Car at Metro Airport. Apparently, Stenasa was pulling out from the Clark Service Station at Goddard and Middle Belt when a speeding car, headed north on Middle Belt, hit his car broadside. The autopsy report said that the cause of death was head and neck injuries. (A reliable source reported that his neck had been broken from the impact.) Stenasa was taken to the University Hospital, where he died the following day around noon.

The speeding car was driven by Christopher Thomas, 18, of Romulus. On August 30, Thomas was charged with negligent homicide by the Wayne County Prosecutor's office. He was arraigned on September 4 and released on a $5,000 personal bond. Examination was set for 9 a.m. on September 12 at the 34th District Court. Thomas was represented by counsel, and counsel stated that they were going to wave their preliminary examination.

The case will now go to Downtown Detroit to either Circuit or Records court, where there will be another arraignment examination and, possibly, a trial within the months to come. The way the law is, negligent homicide is a circuit court misdemeanor and carries a term of up to two years in prison. However, this case is being handled by the Romulus Police as a felony. Prosecutor Bernacki would only issue a warrant for negligent homicide, and there is wonderment at his decision to do so.

Editor's note: I called the Prosecutor in this particular case and asked why a person could drive so recklessly, causing the death of an innocent human being, and basically get charged with nothing that would take him off the streets permanently. Prosecutor Bernacki informed me that speeding was, in itself, not a crime. The charge that the man is being charged with is what is called

by Dave Atkins

According to Romulus Police Chief Fred Dansby, the controversial new 9-mm weapons will be issued to our police officers sometime in early October.

There are approximately 38 officers who must be trained on the weapons before they can be issued. Dansby says that training will begin around the first of October. The training will include an eight-hour session in the classroom and two days of range-training. It is said that, in many cases, the officers taking the training are so well trained that they can go through an extensive shooting session with their eyes open, and then close their eyes and hit their target with deadly accuracy.

As you all know, there has been much controversy over the issuance of these weapons since their initial purchase several months ago. The problems were with the Chief and the Union, but it now seems that most of their differences have been resolved.

According to Chief Dansby, "Both sides wanted the training; it was just a matter of reaching mutual agreements." He went on to say that general discussions between the Union and the City, allowing them to resolve some of their main grievances, were a major factor in the decision to begin the training and then issue the weapons.

Training will be conducted at the Romulus Police gun range behind the Department of Public Works building, rather than in some other city.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally was out of town when I talked to Chief Dansby, but, in an earlier interview with the Mayor, she indicated that the range was being worked on and should be completed soon, and that she would be glad when the officers could, in fact, begin carrying their new 9-mm weapons.

It is good that the weapons will be issued; it is good that the officers will have better protection; but it is even better that the hassling appears to be over, and more efficient police work can be done on a daily basis.

The training will be conducted by Romulus police officers Ellis and Poe, who are considered to be among the best weapons-trainers in the State.

Congratulations are in order for both the City and the Union for taking strides to clear up a problem that should never have existed in the first place.

I would certainly hope that the rest of the negotiations will run smoothly and that both sides will be satisfied with what they accomplish, but most of all it is hoped that the citizens will not be adversely affected by either side. □

Point of Law

by Murray A. Duncan, Jr., Attorney

Negligent homicide is defined as "any person who, by the operation of any vehicle upon any highway or upon any other property, public or private, at an immoderate rate of speed, or in a careless, reckless, or negligent manner, but not willfully or wantonly, shall cause the death of another, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not more than two years or by a fine of not more than $2,000, or both such fine and imprisonment."

One element of the offense of negligent homicide is that the automobile was operated at an immoderate rate of speed. Whether a vehicle is traveling at an immoderate rate of speed is not determined by the legal speed limit. The commonly accepted definition of "immoderate" is "not within reasonable limits." Thus, if the speed limit is 45 mph, then, normally, 45 mph would be a reasonable speed to travel. However, if it is snowing and the roads are slippery, 45 mph may not be a reasonable speed.

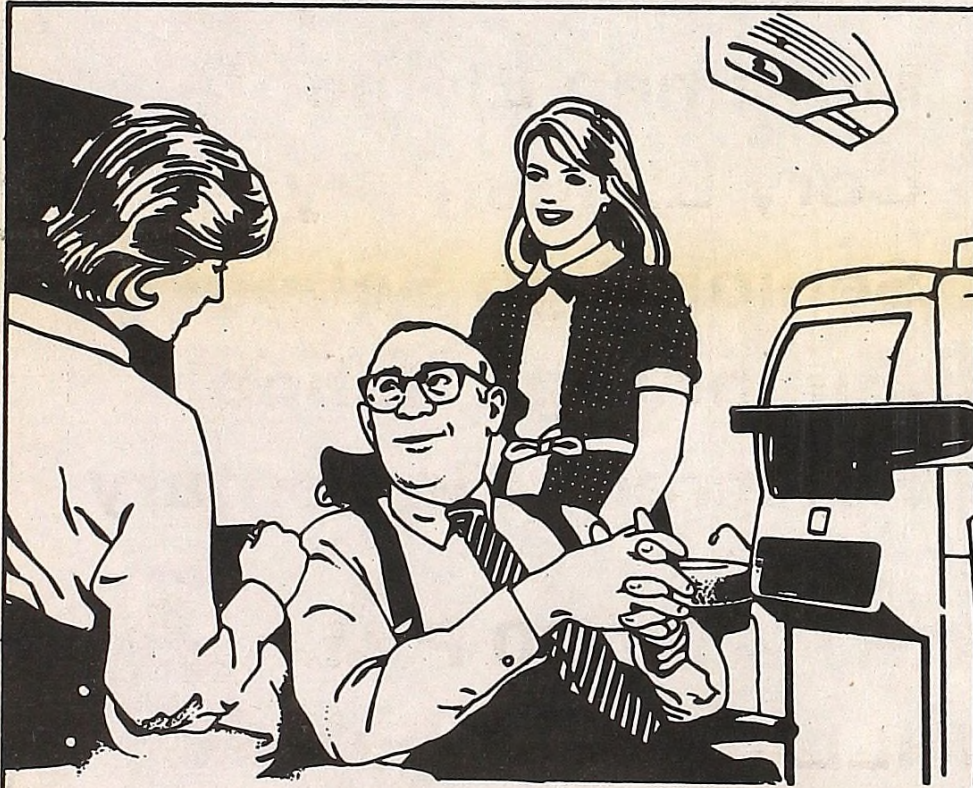

In this situation, if a person lost control of his/her vehicle, causing death to another, the person could be charged with negligent homicide, even though he/she was traveling the legal speed limit.

The second element of the crime of negligent homicide is that the vehicle was being operated in a negligent manner. If a person operates a vehicle under circumstances that a person of ordinary prudence would realize were unsafe because injury to another was likely to occur, he/she is guilty of negligence.

A person is guilty of negligent homicide if the automobile that he/she is operating is traveling at an immoderate rate of speed and strikes the car ahead of him/her, causing a death.

An error in judgment made by a driver suddenly confronted with an emergency situation is not negligence unless his/her choice of action is that which no ordinarily prudent person would have taken.

An individual who causes death to another while operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated could be charged with the felony of manslaughter or murder. □

by Dave Atkins

The ladies at the Kozy Korner Cafe are about to celebrate their first year in business. Things have, periodically, been rough, but they have been able to keep their heads above water, which is something that's almost impossible for small-business owners to do these days.

They have tried new things, new foods, new hours, new help, and the list goes on — all in an effort to please their customers.

The latest "new items" to be tried on the menu (and they seem to be doing quite well for them) are fresh lake whitefish and fresh lake trout.

The fish is shipped in fresh every Thursday evening, and is immediately filleted and put into the cooler for Friday's dinners. The fish is virtually bone-free after the gals finish with it, and reports say that it is absolutely delicious. The fish is generally dipped in a beer batter (not enough to make you an alcoholic, or anything like that) and deep-fried in vegetable oil. They also serve deep cold water cod and ocean perch. You really should make a point of trying their Fish Special on Fridays. (They stay open until 8 p.m. on Fridays in order to accommodate their many fish-loving customers.)

Also in the plans for the near future are Sunday Dinner Specials. The owners of the Kozy Korner have decided to open on Sundays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and, sometime in early October, they will begin serving a different Sunday Dinner Special every week — dinners like ham, fresh roasted turkey, and chicken and dumplings. I'm even trying to get them to serve beans and cornbread. (You know us hillbillies.)

Currently, the restaurant has table-seating for 24, plus additional seating at the counter.

If you like good, home-cooked food and a family atmosphere, you should get to the Kozy Korner early on Fridays and Sundays. (Senior specials will be available.)

The Kozy Korner Cafe is now open daily from 6:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., except Fridays (6:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.) and Sundays (9 a.m. to 2 p.m.).

The waitresses are good, the cooks are good, the food is good, the atmosphere is good. . . . It's just a nice, pleasant place to eat. □

Robert Andrew Perkins

Debbie Perkins and Robert Blaisdell of Romulus are proud to announce the birth of their son, Robert Andrew.

Robert was born at Henry Ford Hospital on March 11, 1990, at 1:24 p.m. He weighed seven pounds, eight ounces, and measured 21 inches.

Robert has one big sister, Kristina Perkins, who is two years old. His maternal grandparents are Richard Perkins (Romulus) and Darlene Sullivan (Germany), and George and Karen Blaisdell (Westland) are his paternal grandparents. Violet Chabanik (Willis) is Robert's great-grandmother. □

Jennifer Putzig (left) of Romulus spent part of her free time this summer doing volunteer work for Oakwood Hospital. In appreciation of her efforts, Oakwood honored her at the annual Student Volunteer Recognition ceremony, held on August 21. The 16-year-old Putzig, who has a sight handicap, attends Livonia-Churchill School. She volunteered at the Oakwood Adult Health Center as part of Oakwood's Red Cross Volunteer program. Accompanying her are Helen Krynen (center), chairman of Oakwood's Red Cross Program, and MaryAnn Haggerty, youth coordinator of the American Red Cross Southeast District.

Sports Update

by Fred Coleman, Romulus Schools Athletic Director

RHS Football

The Eagle varsity football program is going through very tough times right now. The remainder of this season, however, is sure to build character in the very young, inexperienced athletes, and the future of Eagle football looks very bright.

After a very disappointing loss (7-6) to Garden City, the Eagles took on League-rival Adrian in what showed to be a mismatch in talent and experience from the beginning.

"Adrian has their best team in the last 10 years, according to their school officials," stated Dan Henry, second-year head coach, "and it sure showed on Friday evening (24-0)."

We were outscored 57-0 this week in games with Adrian, and the difference is out-of-season preparation. They lift weights year-round in Adrian and use their pool for conditioning in the off-season, and probably the key to their success is that they have a freshman and J.V. team to develop players. Adrian did not have a sophomore or a freshman on their roster last evening, and we started two freshmen and six sophomores. It's tough to beat experience.

"We have a great bunch of young men who are working as hard as they can to be successful, and I see great improvement in the future of our program," Henry commented.

Things are not going to get any easier for the staff and players, as they travel to number-one-rated Frankenthum this week, then play Ypsilanti at home the following week.

A severe knee injury to senior captain Guam Lee could hurt the Eagles in their final six games, as Guam was having a great season, leading the defense in tackles and trailing senior co-captain Eben Smith by only a few yards in total offense.

"We have some excellent young talent that wants to learn how to play this game and establish a winning tradition at Romulus, and, with their work ethic and some of the changes taking place in our schedule, I truly believe that we may surprise people in the next few years," Henry concluded.

RHS Girls' Basketball

Junior Varsity: 0-4

Senior Susan Molenda has been leading the way for the lady Eagles as they begin their 1990-91 season.

Tough losses to Grosse Ile and New Boston Huron fired the Eagles up to an outstanding performance against Ypsilanti Lincoln for their first victory.

Seniors Jennifer Daniel and Angi Hopewell took charge in the back court, while Kim Hopewell, Camita Brown, and Susan Molenda handled the front court on both offense and defense. The final score was 72-49.

On Thursday evening, the Eagles travelled to Adrian (last year's League Champions — 8-0 and 19-1 on the season) and nearly pulled off the upset, losing by 12 in what Coach Tim Cullen called "our best game of the season."

"I was hoping to be 2-2 after our first four games, as these teams we have just played may be four of the better teams on our schedule," added Cullen. "We finally get to play at home after four tough road games, and the girls are looking forward to playing before the home crowd for a change."

The Eagles host Wayne on Thursday evening beginning at 5:30 p.m.

RHS Cross Country

Off to what could be a record-setting season for the Eagle men's cross-country team, Coach Dan Henry has nothing but praise for what is essentially a very young, hard-working group of youths.

Sophomore Eric Newcomb is consistently running as the number-one finisher for the Eagles, but juniors James Catron and Ricky Liberty are not far behind.

Also leading to the success of the team are Dennis Tessin and Steve Miller (both seniors), and Greg Majcher, a sophomore.

Said Henry, "Team and individual records are going to fall with this group . . . if not this year, for sure sometime in the next two. These kids work hard and they see success from their work, and that seems to be pushing them even more each week."

Recent victories over Garden City and League-rival Ypsilanti boosted the team spirits for what is hoped to be an excellent home stand against Southgate (Thursday, September 20, 4 p.m.), Ann Arbor Huron (Tuesday, September 25, 4 p.m.), and Belleville (Thursday, September 27, 4 p.m.).

RHS Golf

Junior Varsity: 1-6

"Disappointing" was how Coach Bill Knight described his initial League match, as the Eagle golfers finished fifth in the Pioneer Quint, eight strokes out of first place.

"I still feel we can challenge for the League championship with the team we have," added Knight, "but it is a sport where the individual must perform on that day, and, if your game is off, it is very difficult to make adjustments during the match."

The Eagle team of Chris Vavro, Ed Tank, Ben Good, Brian Crain, Brian Bartholomew, and Mike Bergeron have shown signs of greatness, with Ben Good being maybe the most consistent player thus far in the season.

Recent scores of 37 (Good), 39 (Tank), 40 (Vavro), 40 (Crain), and 41 (Bartholomew) show the potential for this team.

Coach Knight hopes that Thursday's impressive victory over New Boston Huron will motivate his players to do well in Thursday's match against Wayne and also instill the confidence needed to possibly win the upcoming Gabriel Richard Invitational. □

Michigan Education Trust

submitted by James A. Kosteva, State Representative for the 37th District

Rising college costs have become a fact of life. Many of Michigan's public colleges and universities have practiced fiscal restraint over the last few years and raised tuition only as much as necessary; still, some working families worry about whether they will be able to afford to send their children to college.

To provide greater access to Michigan colleges and to ease the minds of worried parents, Michigan officials created the Michigan Education Trust (MET) in 1988. MET offers parents a way to pre-pay for their children's college education by purchasing one-year contracts. Four contracts would equal four years of college.

The money raised through sale of the contracts is then pooled, invested, and used to pay for tuition when the child is ready to attend college. MET promises to pay tuition at any of Michigan's 15 public universities. The program can also be used to save money for private or out-of-state colleges.

In its first two years, MET has enrolled 50,000 children. Supporters say MET gives peace of mind to parents who worry about whether they will be able to afford to send their children to school. It also encourages students to succeed in school, since the opportunity to attend college is guaranteed through MET.

This year, MET offers a monthly purchase plan, rather than having parents pay for the contracts in one lump sum. The monthly purchase option will give the children of more of Michigan's working families the chance to attend college. Applications for the 1990 MET enrollment period will be accepted through an extended period, from October 15 to November 9.

Community forums about the MET program are scheduled for throughout the State in September and October. One of those meetings, to be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, September 25, will be at Seaholm High School (2436 West Lincoln, Birmingham); another will be conducted on Wednesday, September 26, at Cass Technical High School (2421 Second Street, Detroit) at 7 p.m. For more information about MET or the forums, call 1-800-MET-4-KID toll-free from anywhere in Michigan. □

Pooping Out Pumping Pedals

Last week, I pedaled 2,347 miles on my bicycle. But believe me, folks, I'm not boasting about this; actually, I wish the mileage was much less. As of now, I'm so mentally conditioned to pumping that, even when I'm walking, my legs jerk up and down like a bewildered and spastic drum major who's marched for three days looking for a band.

All this misery has resulted from a session I had with a fellow named Rock Grannite. You see, Rock is one of a new breed of sports therapists, ready and eager to cure your physical and emotional ills through exercise.

About a month ago, I'd suffered through a series of unfortunate incidents, all of which propelled my stress level into dark areas usually seen only by the Space Shuttle and Mr. Spock. Of course, being that darn high, I could barely breathe, which, naturally, made me even more stressed. I was ... a mess.

All this stress stuff started one day when I was stymied, trying to rip a new toothbrush out of its package. Then, a few days later, I stopped for gas at a new self-serve station. One sign said pay first, but another said pump first. Parked by the pumps and unable to figure out what to do, I started oozing pools of sweat and stuttering in my thoughts. After standing there a bit and "squeee-gee-ing" sweat from my eyes, for some reason, I suddenly began changing my spark plugs. Soon, someone named Sam helped me home.

The final nerve-jangle came at the meat counter of my local grocery store. Asking for a rib-eye, the butcher apparently thought I said "rabbi"; so there I was, carting around this elderly Jewish person who kept insisting I buy kosher dills.

Anyway, to deal with all this stress, I thought I'd try sports therapy. Arriving at Rock's place, Rock's Exercise Therapy & Totally Awesome Workout Fashions, Inc., we shook hands — me with my usual oatmeal grip, he with a hydraulic grasp that could have squeezed mineral water out of iron.

With my left thumb trying to force blood back into my right hand, I told him of my stress overload. Rock, running in place while combing his golden hair, listened intently as I concluded my story. Then, quitting the running and combing, and easily sliding into a rowing machine, he looked me in the eye, smiled, and asked, "What's your favorite exercise, man?"

"Well, I do rather enjoy twiddling my thumbs while reading books about compound fractions or the mystique of soybeans; I mean, really, has anyone actually ever seen a soybean?"

"Wow, you're deep, man. You're going to be tough," he said; rowing somewhat faster.

Finally, with his brain becoming hot and sweaty, Rock puffed, "Okay, here's the deal, man. Now, I'm sure twiddling is good exercise, but how about something a little more strenuous? How about bicycling? Have you ever tried it?"

Had I ever tried it! My jaws clamped as I started boiling with anger. Did he think I was some sort of wimp, or something? Man, I was primed to tell-off this sweaty yahoo.

"Well, yes sir, Mr. Grannite, I can ride a bike."

"Training wheels, man?"

"Well, yes, Mr. Grannite, I do use training wheels, but only as a prudent and precautionary measure. ... Hey, what the heck, I probably don't even need the darn things at all, sir!"

"That's the spirit, my man! Now listen up — for the next week, anytime you feel stressed, ride your bike until you spot vultures circling your head. Then, in 10 days, come back here and I'll see if there's anything else we should add."

We should add? Was the Rock going to ride with me, I wondered? Naw, of course not; he'd be too busy figuring out how to pump iron, brush and floss, and comb his locks all at the same time. So, after collecting his fee (enough to buy Reeboks for all occasions), he gave me a tiny sample tube of Ben Gay and, with a playful punch to my upper arm, sent me reeling on my way.

Well, folks, I gave it my best effort, racking up all those miles. However, I've cancelled my appointment with Rock, as my stressful condition has lifted. I mean, when you're continually exhausted, how can you get stressed over trying to open a bandage wrapper? □

Lice Can Happen to the Nicest Families

by Ruth Fairchild, R.N., School Nurse for the Romulus Community Schools

I feel that it is necessary to call your attention to the fact that we have had several cases of head lice this year. We received calls even before school had opened. Some families did not give it proper attention over the summer, and so brought it to school this fall.

Like those in Romulus, several other schools in the State have already had severe problems this year with head lice. This problem is a major annoyance and is highly contagious. It can spread rapidly from child to child and from children to parents. You, as a parent, can help us avoid an epidemic by taking a minute to check your child's head on a regular basis. I urge every parent in this community to be concerned enough to examine his/her child's hair at least once or twice weekly.

Examine the hair for tiny, pearl-white specks that adhere tightly to the hair strand. They may look like dandruff or dust, but will not brush away from the hair because they are actually cemented to the hair. These are lice eggs or nits. The most common areas for infestation are on top of the head, especially in the area of the bangs, around the ears, and at the top of the neck.

Getting rid of lice requires persistent attention. The main problem comes when you have families that don't handle the problem properly, and so cause reinfestation. If you should find head lice or nits, please notify your child's school, as your child's classmates should also be examined. This will help control lice in the schools. (A big thanks to those parents already checking on a regular basis. You've made a difference.)

We make a conscious effort to prevent an epidemic in our schools. We have strict exclusion, treatment, and readmission procedures. Only by working together can we control this problem in Romulus Schools and in this community.

Remember: head lice can happen to anyone — clean or dirty, rich or poor. Lice can happen in the nicest families!

If you have a problem or a question concerning head lice or any other health problem, please contact me, Ruth Fairchild, R.N., School Nurse, by calling your child's school or the Special Services Office (941-0272). □

The Traffic Report

You Can Stop in Time!

by Officer Rick Schwartz, Romulus Police Department

You travel this road a lot and always seem to catch a red light at the intersection, but today you see the light turn from red to green while you're only a block away. That's good; you'll make it today with no waiting. With your false sense of security, you enter the intersection. Just then, you see a blur, hear a deafening crash, and feel extreme pain. In about three-tenths of a second, you realize that your vehicle is damaged beyond repair ... and that you may be, too.

Never allow yourself to have a false sense of security, when entering an intersection, just because you have the green light or because traffic coming from the other direction has a "stop" or "yield" sign. Always look for other vehicles. The law says that you have the right-of-way, but you just read what happens time after time.

Remember the following:

Perception Distance
+ Reaction Distance
+ Braking Distance

= Total Stopping Distance

Perception Distance: This is the distance that your vehicle travels from the time your eyes see a hazard until your brain recognizes it. The perception time of an alert driver is about three-fourths of a second. At 45mph, you travel 50 feet in three-fourths of a second.

Reaction Distance: This is the distance travelled from the time your brain tells your foot to move from the accelerator until your foot is actually pushing on the brake pedal. The average driver has a reaction time of three-fourths of a second. This accounts for an additional 50 feet travelled at 45mph.

Braking Distance: This is the distance that it takes to stop once the brakes are applied. At 45mph on dry pavement with good brakes, it can take your vehicle about two seconds to stop, during which you can travel about 45 feet.

Total Stopping Distance: At 45mph, it will take about three and a half seconds to stop, and your vehicle will travel about 145 feet ($50' + 50' + 45' = 145'$).

Look. Maybe even slow up a little if necessary. Beware of the driver who may be daydreaming, listening to a good song, talking on the car phone, or drunk. It happens ... and it can happen to you! Expect the unexpected, and drive defensively.

If you have any questions regarding traffic laws, safety, etc., write to: Officer Rick Schwartz, c/o the Romulus Police Department, 11165 Olive Street, Romulus, MI 48174. Answers will appear in future issues of "the little paper." □

Nursery Taking Applications

by Carolyn Landis

The Huron Countryside Co-op Nursery is still accepting applications for afternoon classes for three-year-olds and for morning and afternoon classes for four-year-olds. Tuition is $22 per month for the three-year-old class and $33 per month for the four-year-old class. Morning classes meet from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and the afternoon classes meet from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m., with the three-year-olds meeting on Tuesdays and Thursdays and the four-year-olds meeting on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Parents are expected to fully participate in all HCCN activities.

The nursery is under the direction of Mrs. Lois Winfield, who is in her fifteenth year with HCCN.

For more information, please call 941-5692 or stop by the Nursery, which is located in Miller Elementary School (18955 Hannan Road, New Boston).

HCCN is a nonprofit, nondiscriminatory organization, owned and operated by the parents who have children enrolled in the program. □

Bible School a Success

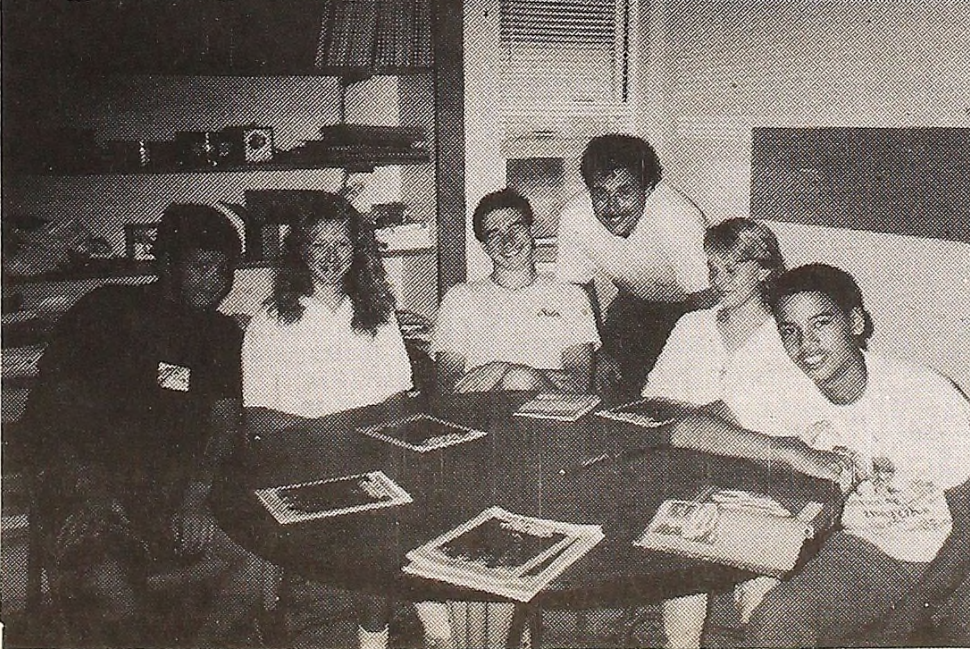

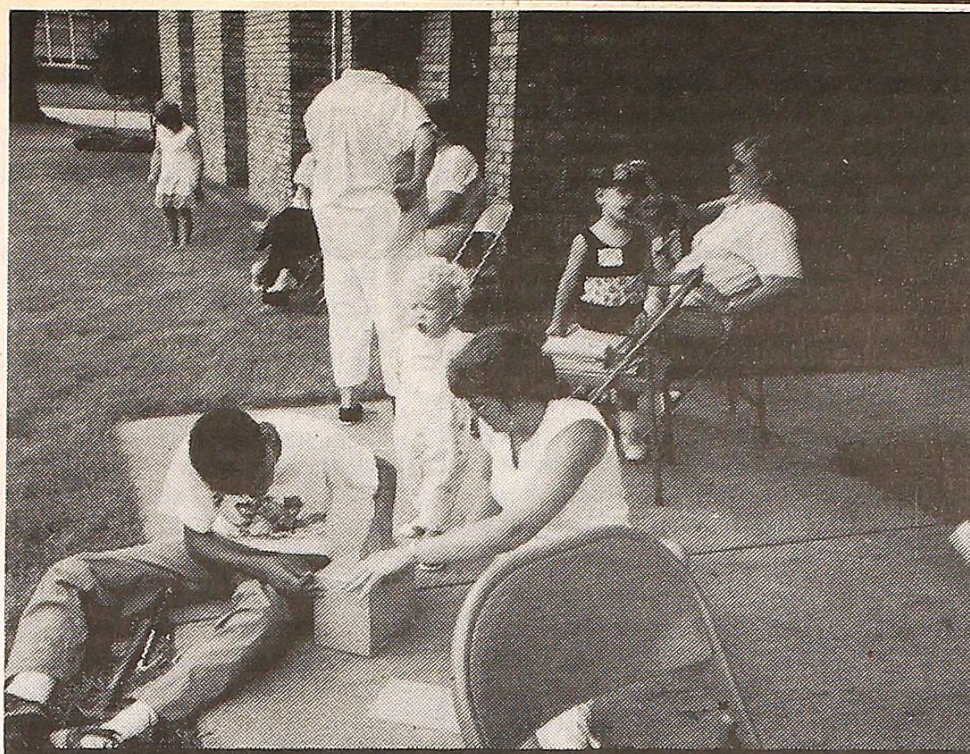

by Rev. J.D. Landis

The Community United Methodist Church says thanks to all the kids, parents, and staff who helped make last month's Vacation Bible School a great success. Over 90 people participated in the five-day experience, which included singing, a magic program, games, balloons, crafts, Bible stories, and great snacks.

The same excitement will be shared on Rally Day (Sunday, September 30). The Church extends an invitation to all the kids and parents who enjoyed Vacation Bible School and others in the community to come and enjoy Sunday school, worship, and a potluck meal. During the day, there will be prizes for those who attend, games following the service, and a chance for everyone in the community to see the nearly completed renovation of the Church. The members of CUMC look forward to hosting a large and enthusiastic crowd.

For more information, please call 941-0736. □

Changes in Bus Laws

(Thanks to Officer Rick Schwartz of the Romulus Police Department for passing along the following information from Sergeant Eric Johnson of the Michigan State Police.)

On August 15, 1990, the "Pupil Transportation Act" went into effect, and, with the upcoming school year, many questions are starting to come in. Changes in the law can be summarized as follows:

- School bus stopping rules on private roads are now included in the law, with the same rules applying as on public highways.
- An ordinance is no longer required in order for a school bus to activate its flashers within city or village limits.
- Hazard lights or special amber flashing lights (depending on year of manufacture) must be activated prior to a stop.
- Red lights can be activated only after a complete stop.
- An option to the use of red flashers is now available, which should relieve some of the traffic congestion problems caused by traffic needlessly having to stop for a school bus (especially opposing traffic). If pupils do not cross the roadway, and if the bus can be pulled off the roadway (or private road) so as not to obstruct traffic, only hazard lights need be used instead of the red flashers. The school administration must approve locations where this procedure is used, however, and it is strictly optional.
- Students may not be discharged in a manner that would require that they cross a roadway having more than two lanes of travel.
- A school bus must now be clearly and continuously visible for a distance of 400 feet at a stop, which is less restrictive than "completely" visible. This is still subject to conjecture, however.
- A school bus can no longer carry more than the number of passengers for which it has a rated seating capacity (old law was 110%). This provision applies after the fourth Friday following Labor Day of each school year, giving the school ample time to make necessary adjustments due to changing routes and enrollments.

It is important to note that the provision in the fifth item will have a significant impact on relieving traffic congestion and providing a safer driving environment. Many highways in this state have shoulders of ample size that would allow a bus to pull completely off to the side, and when children do not have to cross the road, there is generally no reason to stop traffic.

Schools or citizens with enforcement and inspection questions should contact Sergeant Carl Schembri of the Motor Carrier Division at (517) 373-4910. School procedural questions should be directed to Mr. Larry Louderback, Department of Education, at (517) 373-3314. (Mr. Louderback can also be contacted for copies of the law.) □

Raffle Supports Boys' Camping

The Romulus Rotary Club has announced that the second annual camping trip for boys from Halecreek Elementary (held July 26-29, 1990) was such a worthwhile success that a third annual camping trip is being planned by current Rotary President, Tony Kopas.

The 19 campers (ages nine to 13) who participated in this year's outing were accompanied by seven Romulus Rotarians, and all enjoyed swimming, fishing, target shooting, and long hikes in the forest.

To help finance projects like this, the Romulus Rotarians are asking for your support of their fund-raising raffle (which has a grand prize of a round trip for two via Southwest Airlines from Detroit to Phoenix, dinner for two and a night's lodging at the Romulus Days Inn, plus $500). The $5 tickets will be on sale from now through the drawing date

(November 28), and are available at several locations, including Grova GMC Trucks, Captain Nemo's, and Romulus Hardware. □

Voter Registration

by Arthur McPharlin, Community Relations Director, Romulus Community Schools

Residents of the City of Romulus can now register to vote in all Romulus schools, thanks to the efforts of Linda Choate, Romulus City Clerk, and the 17 volunteers who work in the School District. Choate, at City Hall, swore in all volunteers as deputy registrars, distributed the necessary forms, and explained the simple process to register to vote.

All residents who register before October 9, 1990, will be eligible to vote in the November 6, 1990, election, in which voters can cast their ballots for Governor, State and Federal representatives, other elected positions, and various proposals. Romulus citizens will also decide the future of education in Romulus through the bond proposals that will appear on the ballot.

Carole Bales, deputy registrant, stated, "We hope the new citizens of Romulus will join the other citizens of our city by becoming involved in their school and investigate the significance of our goal to provide a successful education for all of our students."

All schools are open between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. for anyone wishing to register. If you are unable to get to a school, you may contact me, Art McPharlin, at the Board of Education office (941-1600) to arrange for someone to come and register you at your home.

Remember: the right to vote is a privilege. It's a way of making what you feel count . . . because when you vote, your vote does count!

Romulus students deserve the very best! □

HomeShare

by Kari Popowitz, Project Coordinator

Are you paying high rent? Living alone? Would you like someone waiting for you when you get home at night? Does your home have an extra bedroom? Would you like to share those high heating bills? Well, HomeShare may be your answer!

"Anna," a 35-year-old divorcee, has been HomeSharing with "Betty," an 83-year-old widow, for a year and a half. Anna pays minimal rent each month, and, in exchange, provides services for Betty. These services can include grocery shopping, banking, cooking, or just plain companionship. Both women enjoy an increased sense of security and have lost past feelings of loneliness.

HomeShare is offered to adults free of charge. Trained staff assist in matching compatible people from all walks of life to share housing. The decisions are up to the participants and the benefits are numerous, as illustrated in the "Anna" and "Betty" match.

HomeSharing begins with a phone call. Participants are divided into two groups: providers (people with homes to share) and seekers (people looking to share a home). The application process includes a personal interview to determine needs, preferences, and expectations. Personal references are checked, income verified, and a medical evaluation form is completed by each participant's physician.

Quick matches are not the goal of this program. Instead, participants are encouraged to take it slow and choose carefully. Referrals are made on an ongoing basis to potential HomeSharers. The final decisions are made by the participants themselves.

The program has worked for "Lisa" and "Michelle." They are single women in their early thirties, and both spend much of their time out of their home due to busy work and play schedules. Each woman holds a full-time job and all expenses are split down the middle. This allows them to remain independent, yet they live in an apartment that neither could afford on her own.

Staff will help clients arrange a trial match, which usually lasts two weeks. A HomeSharing lease agreement is encouraged to establish the rules of the house and set deadlines for payment of rent and utilities. Periodically, a HomeShare specialist will contact participants in matches. Counseling and mediation are available, should a problem develop.

This year, several Romulus residents have utilized HomeShare services. Two applications have been accepted and six referrals were made to prospective HomeSharers. Alternative housing options have been offered 41 times. Since the program's onset, three matches have been initiated involving Romulus residents. The most recent match has lasted a year and a half, and the participants are still together. HomeShare is working.

The Information Center, Inc., has made over 70 matches in the Downriver and Western Wayne County area. If this program sounds good to you, call The Information Center, Inc., at 282-7171. □

Nurse-aide Certification

Romulus Adult Education is now certified by the State to operate a nurse-aide program. Since July of 1989, State law has required nurse aides to complete an approved training program and pass a State competency exam.

Romulus instructors Evelyn Hopewell and Jennifer Meeks, both registered nurses, wrote the proposal for State certification, and both have been trained to teach in certified nurse-aide programs.

The nurse-aide training program will consist of five weeks of classes that will meet at Romulus High School from 6 to 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday. The first training session began on September 17; a total of seven sessions will be held throughout the school year. The certification requirement has resulted in better-trained nurse aides, more professional status for nurse aides, and increased wages. The Romulus training program is free to adults who are non-graduates and to graduates who were under 20 years of age as of September 1, 1990. All other graduates are required to pay a tuition fee of $200.

Among the topics of instruction are special needs of the elderly and chronically ill, personal care skills, basic nursing skills for nurse aides, emergency and accident prevention, infection control, basic anatomy and physiology, and rehabilitative care. All nurse-aide trainees will complete a core curriculum of classes, followed by a clinical training component at a nursing facility, which will be arranged for them by the Romulus Adult Education staff. Upon completion of the program, students will meet entry-level competency skills required of long-term care workers, home-maker/home health care aides, and community health assistants. □

Families Grow Closer in PWP

by Tillie Van Sickle

Parents Without Partners, Inc., is an international, nonprofit, nonsectarian, support and educational organization, devoted to the welfare and interest of single parents and their children.

Wayne Westland Chapter #340 is well known for its caring and sharing attitude, and is a very friendly group. We welcome everyone with open arms.

We have a complete program for the family, as well as the parent. Bowling at Town N Country Lanes in Westland and Swim & Pizza at Westland YMCA and Little Caesar's in Westland are two events that we do on a monthly basis. We also go camping, have picnics, etc. Seasonal outings such as the Pumpkin Factory, apple orchard, Santa's Workshop, egg hunts, etc., are enjoyed as a family, also.

Our educational program includes discussion groups held weekly in someone's home in a casual, relaxed atmosphere; the range of topics covered is wide. General meetings feature speakers. We organize group training, such as a CPR class at the Wayne Fire Department, the Fire Safety training at the "Fire House" at the Westland Fire Department, the Junior Ranger Program at a camping outing, etc. We also attend cultural events such as plays, theatre, and concerts.

We hold conferences at the Regional, Zone, and International levels. They are educational in nature. Our next Regional Conference will be held October 12-14, 1990. (For details, see the activity schedule at the end of this article.)

We have a wide range of social activities for the parents, too. Volleyball is a weekly event, as are card parties, road rallies, dinners out, movies, house parties, etc. We also travel. Last April, a group went to Acapulco, and we just returned from our Third Annual trip to JJ Resort Ranch in Rothbury, Michigan.

The importance of socializing is that it gives us an opportunity to get to know each other. When you sit in a discussion group, you really get to see how others feel about certain issues. When you spend the weekend with others, you really get to know them, as we did at the dude ranch.

Wayne Westland Chapter #340 also gets involved in the community. We have participated in local parades and festivals, and help raise money for the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon each year. Working with the new homeless project at the old Eloise facility will be another of the group's undertakings this year. We are also members of both the Wayne and Westland Chambers of Commerce.

Our General Meetings are held at the Amvets Hall (1217 South Merriman, Westland) on the second and fourth Fridays of each month. The meetings consist of a business meeting, a speaker on a given subject, and a dance. They start at 8 p.m.; admission is $3 before 9 p.m. and $4 after 9 p.m.

You must be a single parent to join Parents Without Partners, Inc. Membership is $25. Wayne Westland Chapter #340 has a Courtesy Card for $2 that is good for 30 days at our chapter only. It gives a prospective member time to check into our organization before deciding to join. For more information, call me, Tillie Van Sickle, at 595-7806.

The following is a list of some of the group's upcoming activities.

Hayride

PWP #340 will have a hayride at Sugar Bush Farms in Ypsilanti this Friday, September 21, at 8 p.m. A bonfire and dancing will follow. The cost is $10.

Call me (595-7806) for more information.

11th Annual Renaissance Festival

PWP #340 will attend the Renaissance Festival, held near Mt. Holly, on Saturday, September 22, at 10 a.m. Call me (595-7806) for more information.

PWP #340 Orientation

An orientation for those interested in joining our organization will be held on Monday, September 24, at 7 p.m. at Garden City Park (Cherry Hill & Merriman). Call Reggie (261-2829) for further information. Free.

PWP #340 General Meeting

The next meeting of PWP #340 will be held on Friday, September 28, beginning at 8 p.m. at the Amvets Hall in Westland. There will be a speaker on Addictive Behavior; a dance will follow. The evening's theme will be Country/Western, and jeans will be appropriate. The cost is $3.

PWP Regional Conference

PWP #340 will host the PWP Regional Conference, to be held at the Raddison Hotel near Metro Airport on the weekend of October 10-12. The conference, which is open to the public, will feature workshops, dances, awards banquets, and more. Call me for more information (595-7806). □

The real Robinson Crusoe

Did you know that the book Robinson Crusoe was based on the adventures of a real man? He was a Scottish man born in 1676 at Largo, Fifeshire. His real name was Alexander Selkirk.

He worked for his father until he was almost 30, and then went to sea, joining an expedition to harass Spanish ships in the Pacific Ocean.

The leader was a man called William Dampier, who made Selkirk Master of a ship called 'Cinque Ports.' The ship's captain, Thomas Stridling, was not well liked by his crew.

Leaving Plymouth in 1704, the ship stopped for water at an island called Juan Fernandez. Selkirk pointed out that repairs were needed because the ship was leaking. For some reason the captain was furious and a violent quarrel broke out between the two men.

Selkirk, accused of being a coward, said he would rather stay on the uninhabited island than sail again with Stridling. The captain promptly marooned Selkirk ashore with his sea-chest, bedding, a few clothes, a Bible, a knife, a kettle, tobacco, a musket, gunpowder and steel.

Being marooned was not uncommon in those days. Stridling had previously marooned five of his men, guilty of mutiny, on Juan Fernandez.

Often men were marooned with nothing, so Selkirk was fairly well provided. However, he soon regretted his decision to stay on the island.

Selkirk had enough to eat, but he quickly became lonely and depressed. He built two huts, one for reading and the other for cooking, and managed to survive on what food he could find. There were goats, which gave him meat and milk. There were also wild cats and some kittens for company, but he was the only human on the island.

Each day he climbed to the highest part of the island to look for a ship, but no ship passed by for five years.

On the last day of January, 1709, his luck changed. A British ship arrived. Selkirk quickly lit a fire and hurried to meet the landing party of sailors. After being stranded for five years, he found speaking difficult, and the food and drink he was offered made him ill.

The pilot of the ship was Selkirk's old leader, Dampier. Dampier persuaded the captain to give Selkirk a job, and he later became captain of another ship.

Two years passed during which Selkirk made a small fortune. Eventually, the ship returned home and Selkirk went back to Largo, where some say he lived in a cave for a while before joining another ship.

In time, he married and lived in another town in Scotland before joining 'HMS Weymouth.' It was on this ship that he died near Africa in 1721.

The writer Daniel Defoe heard of Selkirk's adventures and used them in Robinson Crusoe, but refused to let Selkirk share in the money the story made.

a "high misdemeanor." If it could be proven that this young man had been drinking, then, possibly, manslaughter charges could be brought against him.

It doesn't matter whether he was drinking or not; the victim is just as dead either way. Luckily, the victim did not leave a family (wife and children), although he did leave behind a very distraught mother with whom he had been living.

People who drive in such a reckless manner do not, in my opinion, deserve to be on the streets walking around. In fact, they deserve to be locked up for a very long time, and it is doubtful that, even then, they will learn anything.

As with the article about the high-speed chase that appeared in the last issue of this paper ("Romulus Man Involved in 104 mph Chase and Accident," September 5, 1990, Vol. 4, No. 5), parents had better learn that they have a responsibility to the public at large. They (the parents) either purchase or sign for these people to buy what they (the parents) know to be high-speed cars. They know (or, at least, they should take the time to find out) what these kids are like. They should know if the kids drink, take some sort of drugs, have hot tempers, etc., before they decide to buy, or let their kids buy, a car capable of such high rates of speed. Maybe the laws should be designed so that, if the kids driving these vehicles don't have sense enough to take others' lives into consideration, then the parents should be jailed for the kids' actions.

A life is a life, and it cannot be replaced, regardless of how sorry we say that we are when something happens. We should think of what could happen before we drive at high rates of speed or drink while driving. The very terrible truth about this whole mess is that there is a man dead because of excessively high speeds on a very busy street. The driver of the car is still roaming the streets. The two State Police officers involved in the 104-mph chase are alive today because they knew when to stop the chase, but they could just as easily be dead.

If you suspect that someone in your family is driving while under the influence of anything, or if you know of a youth driving at high rates of speed, then take his/her license away, and don't give it back until he/she gets some kind of common sense.

Driving a car at a high rate of speed is not much different than carrying a loaded gun. They can both lead to the same end; unfortunately, they do not carry the same penalty. □

New Future for Athletics

by Fred Coleman, Romulus Schools Athletic Director

The 1991-1992 athletic season will bring about a change that will add to the success and consistency of the Romulus Athletic Department.

Our affiliation with the South Central Conference will come to an end after five years.

There are a number of reasons for this change that will all benefit the athletes within our system. I presented a list of 14 considerations for our Board of Education to look at before making this decision.

I believe that it is important to note that "winning" and "losing" were not a major factor in this decision; but that giving our athletes an "equal" chance in each contest is a concern that we all felt needed to be looked at.

The other teams in our league have facilities and resources available to them through their communities and universities that are not available to our athletes.

Coaches are hired as teachers in these districts and given one hour each day to meet with their athletes during the school day for instruction, conditioning, or weightlifting.

All four schools have ninth-grade teams which benefit in the development of more athletes in game-like conditions.

Swimming and weight-room facilities at the schools, universities, and recreational centers in all four communities add to the total development of their athletes in all sports.

Enrollment declines have caused a great gap in the number of students in our high school, compared to those of the other SCC teams.

Other reasons were included in the discussion prior to this decision, but most important was the feeling of both the coaches and administration that changes were needed to allow our athletes a fair opportunity in each contest in which we ask them to represent our school and community.

Speculation on a new league or just what might happen in the near future is something to be discussed as time goes on.

Right now, we must build schedules, facilities, teams, coaching staffs, and community support groups that will develop our programs into those of which a school and community can be proud. There is no anger, on either our part or the part of the other schools, in our withdrawal from the SCC. It's just a difference in direction in the size of our schools and the community resources available.

It is very tough as a coach or a player to be the "Northwestern" of the league and continue to build morale and desire in your program or personal efforts. There has to be a light at the end of the tunnel. This change in our status as a program is seen by most as that "light," and, hopefully, we will now be able to channel our efforts into developing our programs into rewarding, enriching experiences for our young male and female student-athletes.

Fund Raiser Successful

submitted by Felix Rogalle

On Thursday, September 6, 1990, a reception for Felix Rogalle was held in the pleasant surroundings of the Radisson Hotel, Detroit Metro Airport. Approximately 250 well-wishers, supporters, workers, and elected officials showed their support for the candidate by their attendance.

Local elected officials were in attendance, along with district judges and representatives from Congressman Ford's office.

Felix Rogalle is seeking election for the recently created judgeship in the 34th District Court, located in Romulus. The District covers the City of Romulus, the City of Belleville, Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township, and Huron Township. Rogalle is a resident of the City of Belleville, having graduated from Belleville High School, Michigan State University, and the Detroit College of Law. He is a veteran, having served in Germany from 1955 to 1957.

The relationship between the judge and the community in which he or she serves is very important. It is vital, and one of the keystones of our democratic way of life. The individual selected for the judgeship should respect and understand the community in order to be fair in resolving disputes before the Court.

Felix Rogalle has been active for many years, and understands that it takes participation in government to make a better community. Mr. Rogalle believes that a total commitment to understanding the matter before him is essential, and the rights of the victim are as important as the rights of the criminal defendant.

Felix Rogalle's varied experience — academic, legal, and practical — will be of great value as a judge. Mr. Rogalle has lived in three of the communities within the borders of the 34th District Court.

The election is to be held on November 6, 1990. □
